Chairman.

Report City Engineer

City Engineers Office
21st October 1876.

Sir. The accompanying papers, relative to an overflow of water on Mr Robert Morrow's premises situated on the south side of the Colony Road, near the N. W. Arm having been placed in my hands to report upon. I would state that the matter has already been reported upon by me on two previous occasions viz in July 1874 and May 1876.

Mr Morrow actually makes two distinct complaints: the first is to the effect that owing to certain improvements having been carried out on Oxford Street by the late Stat. Committee the surface drainage from a large area of country has been made to pass into a stone drain running through his property and that of Mr Pryor, and that the drain, not being large enough overflows and distrogs his grounds.

October 26th

The second complaint is that owing to the ditch on the north side of Colony road having been formed in 'made ground' the water in the ditch filters away under the roadway into his premises causing serious damage.

With regard to the first complaint, not knowing in which way the water may have been regulated before the improvements in Oxford Street were made I am unable to say positively whether more than formerly, now passes through the stone drain referred to or not, but judging from the appearance of the natural surface along side of the road, it is my opinion that the works of the City have not increased the volume of water which would naturally flow in that direction to any extent if at all. As a proof that this opinion is probably correct, Mr Pryor through whose property the said stone drain passes before entering Mr Morrow's has no complaint to make and is willing to let things remain as they are. This would also tend to show that the portion of the drain through Mr Pryor's property had at the first been made amply large enough, while that through Mr Morrow's grounds was either badly built or too small, or that it has since become choked. I might add that the drain throughout (except the small portion crossing Oxford Street) is a private concern, and that it is built in low ground which is a natural water course.

If it is contemplated on the part of the City to remedy this overflowing complained of the most effective, and permanent way to do so would be to construct a sewer in the centre of Colony Road from Oxford St to or near the W. Arm and to divert the water into this Sewer. The distance thus required to be built is about 1100 feet, and by the new sewerage scheme the Sewer would be of brickwork egg shaped 36 inches high by 24 inches wide and the cost would be about $3,300. The sewerage assessment on the properties would be $2,750.

A considerable saving could be effected by tapping the water from the stone drain at the west end of Mr Pryor's property and building the Sewer from that point to the arm, the cost in this case should not exceed $2,300, and permission would have to be obtained from Mr Pryor to construct part of the work on his grounds. The remedy before proposed was to conduct the water from the south east corner of the intersection of Colony Road and Oxford Street (or before it enters the stone drain referred to) to the north west corner of the same to conduct it along the North side of Colony Road to the arm by means of deepening the side ditch. The expense was estimated at about $600, but the objections to this plan are that the Street might then be considered dangerous to vehicles by reason of the deep side ditch, and that in the event of a sewer afterwards being required the whole of the work done would be thrown away.

With regard to Mr Morrow's second complaint there can be no doubt that a large quantity of water does filter away through the bottom of the north ditch on Colony Road, but where it goes to must be largely a matter of conjecture. That some of it finds its way onto Mr Morrow's grounds is perhaps true because the natural fall of the land is in that direction.

The roadway in reality acts as a dam to keep the surface water to the north of Colony Road from flowing directly on Mr Morrow's lands. This roadway is not water tight and Mr Morrow claims that it should be made so. To accomplish this alone the cost should not exceed $200. while by adopting the first proposal viz. to build the sewer this expenditure would be unnecessary as that would be a remedy for both complaints -

October 26th

It is to be hoped that Sara's recent experience has taught her some useful lessons. The American theatre-managers and patrons will not submit to such pranks as she played in Europe.

THE QUEBEC LIBERALS are pursuing a moderate and reasonable course. Hon. George Irvine said, in the debate on the Address, that the Liberals intended to give their opponents what the late Government had not received—fair play. The Government has just been sustained by a majority of 8 on the question of the abolition of the Legislative Council, but this majority has only been obtained by the traitorous Liberals, who last year voted for abolition, now voting against it. The wisdom of abolition may be open to doubt. But there can be no doubt about the disgraceful character of the conduct of those so-called Liberals who have swallowed their own words to sustain the Tory Government.

SENATOR DON CAMERON, Chairman of the Provincial Republican Committee, such a high-handed manner than they were when life lent them energy. ("An open grave" seems to be the favorite exercising ground of every liar who can express intelligibly what are not his thoughts.) Here then there is necessity for originality, and "ere she goes for hit him agin."

The warm sun was bathing the plains of Andalusia in light. The old Moorish towers were glowing with the splendor of a noon such as that which sickened Agapida after his dinner of olives and goat's milk, and the tinkling bells of the mules and the songs of the muleteers made a music which angels might have coveted to hear but not mortals. Let us change the scene. It is now South America. The climate is only varied enough to be pleasant. Mr. Whympier, immortalized by his legs, is here. He sits on the very pinnacle of Chimborazo. We must leave him where he is, dawn staring at his boots and his Alpens-tock, until we visit Cape Horn, and discover whether everything is all right there. The waves are "jist about as usual;" Commodore Wilkes is not there, and it is evening. At such an inconvenient time of day nothing can well be done, so we hark back to Spain, and follow for a brief period Don Quixote in his wanderings and his meditations: "Scarce had ruddy Phoebus spread the golden tresses of his beauteous hair over the face of the wide and spacious earth, and scarce had the painted birds with the sweet and mellifluous harmony of their forked tongues saluted the approach of rosy Aurora, who, quitting the soft couch of her jealous husband, disclosed herself to mortals through the gates and balconies of the Manchegan horizon, when"—a Canadian sheriff, accompanied by a number of special constables and a squadron of militia, proceeded to prevent a prize fight. The pugilists had no intention of punishing their ruffian bodies. They were mild-mannered persons, whose live stock in trade consisted of "bounce and swagger." They went home, and the laws of Canada were vindicated, and the gallantry of Canadian policemen placed on a firm footing. The consequences of this valiant act had to come. All Canada arose, not like one man, but like a thousand bulls, and whisked its tail with its "tossil," and glorified itself, and bellowed about brutal exhibitions, and the savagery of the ring, and the nineteenth century, and the progress of civilization, and the thousand other little plasters with which virtuous dulness relieves that phenomenon, the aching of its brain.

Gush of this kind should be damned, or it will overflow society. Here was a matter of police. Two men went to fight, to commit a breach of the peace. They are "scared" away; and over this trifle there is as much noise as if Chateauguay had been fought again, and our wounded had been carried home in two wheelbarrows.

As straws show which way the wind blows, we recommend that a brief account of this wondrous achievement of the Ontario sheriff should be deposited in the cornerstone of some new public building. In times some member of the crow-bar

Report on the petition of the residents of Leonard St west of Olive Street for a Sewer.

The Sewer required will be 190 feet in length, and by the new Sewerage plan it will be egg shaped, 18 inches high and 12 inches wide, of brick work. The estimated cost including one man-hole is $520. and the Sewerage Assessments amount to $342.71^c.

A corrected schedule of the amounts to be charged to the different owners is attached to the petition and also the City Treasurer's receipt for $98.03 paid by petitioners. The petition is in conformity with the law and I know of no reason why the work should not be carried out, but considering the lateness of the season and the time that would necessarily be lost before work could be commenced on the masonry, I cannot recommend building the sewer this year.

By the new sewerage plan a 9 inch pipe is proposed to be laid in Belle-Air Terrace as it is however probable that this street may be extended and widened at some future day it would be preferable to put in a 14 inch circular brick sewer the cost of which will be very little in excess of the pipe.
The length of new sewer required is about 230 feet and the cost including man-holes and all work will be about $800. The sewerage assessment will amount to about $500.
The excavations will be all rock, and considering the lateness of the season, I would deem it very undesirable to attempt to do the work this year.

To The Chairman of the Board of Works.

Sir:

In accordance with your request I beg to submit a plan of the Market Wharf property shewing the actual locations of the wharves and buildings, the position of the original grant of the Market Wharf to Messrs Cochran, as nearly as it can be determined, and the encroachments upon the City.

The plan also shews the positions of the vessels in the dock at noon November 3rd 1876.

The results of my investigations are as follows.

The grant of the Market wharf property was made in the year 1787 to Mr Thomas Cochran at which time there was an encroachment to the Northward of 14 feet as will be seen by reference to a plan also attached copied from the Crown Land Office. By comparing the plan attached to the agreement between the Beamishes and the City in 1859, with the plan of the premises as they now stand I find that the greatest encroachment then amounted to 15 feet whereas the wharf since that date has gone from 2 1/2 to 3 feet still further to the north.

I am thoroughly of the opinion that the City did wrong, in granting such large concessions to the Steamships as was done by the agreement of 1859, but I presume the document is binding as it is mutually agreed to adhere to the North side of the Market Wharf, as it then stood as the dividing line between the two properties, and the City by this agreement not only gave away a long strip of land and water about 35 feet in width, but also granted to the Steamships sufficient water from the City property to dock two coasting vessels not exceeding over all 35 feet in width. The City has thus lost (at least I take it so), a valuable water lot 30 feet in width. The plan is from recent measurements taken by Mr. Armstrong of this office, and I believe it to be perfectly correct as I have had frequent opportunities of checking it and it agrees perfectly with my own measurements.

The whole width taken up by the vessels docking at the Market Wharf is 45 feet and the encroachments of the wharf 3 feet. This throws the second vessel (the Schooner Springfield) nine feet over on the passage reserved for the passage of boats to and from the City slip.

The buildings marked A. on the plan have projecting cornices overhanging still further on the City grounds some 14 or 15 inches. I think the plan is so clear that no further explanations can be necessary.

Report on the petition of the residents of John Street for Water supply

The water pipes already extend a little more than half through John Street and a brick sewer is built about two and one half feet from and parallel with the present pipes.

To grant the prayer of the petitioners it will be necessary to extend the pipes to Garrick Street a distance of almost 290 feet. The estimated cost of laying a six inch pipe with one hydrant and stop cock, and eight domestic service pipes is $1,100. The excavations being about half rock.

The approximate annual revenue will be as follows:

7 Houses renting for $120 each	$46.20
8 Lots valued at $400 each	8.00
	$ 54.20

It is advisable in all such cases as this that a sewer should be provided to carry off the waste water and prevent nuisances on the street.

The proposed sewer for this street, by the new sewerage plan is of brickwork 18 inches high by 12 inches wide, and it is estimated to cost (if built by itself) $800. - or if built in connection with laying the water pipes the whole cost will be about $1550. The sewerage assessments will amount to about $600. I know of no reason why the work should not be carried out, but it is quite late in the season now to think of building the sewer.

City Engineer's Report

Report on the claims of Genl Sir R O Grady Haly, and Mr George Payne for alleged damages to their horses by reason of a hole in one of the Streets of the City.

Messrs Macdonald and Regby Solicitors for General Haly state that the accident to their client's horse occurred at about 11-30 o'clock p.m on Wednesday the 25th October last on Queen Street almost directly opposite No 94.

On the morning of the 25th October the police reported at the office of the clerk of the Board of Works a dangerous hole in Queen Street precisely in the locality above mentioned. This hole was filled in and made perfectly safe within a few hours after being reported by John Macdonald one of the City Foremen. It was about two or three feet long, some 16 or 18 inches deep and about in the centre of the roadway. In my opinion the hole did not exist until it was made by either the General's horse or Mr Payne's horse stepping upon the spot, the surface of the roadway having been rendered soft by reason of the heavy rain storm of the previous day 24th and the ground beneath having been washed away by the action of the water from a burst in the lead service pipe leading to house No 95 Queen Street.

P Lynch Esquire Solicitor of Mr George Payne informs me that the accident to his client's horse occurred at about 11 o'clock p.m about the middle of October last in Queen Street nearly opposite the residence of George Fraser Esquire. This is evidently the same locality as that where the General's horse is said to have sustained injury and the two accidents must have occurred very close upon each other.

I think it will be acknowledged that no amount of care or foresight on the part of the city could have prevented the hole from being formed or the accidents from taking place.
