Committee of Council Reform...a Council Priority

On February 3, 2009 Council confirmed that Committee of Council Reform was one of your three (3) priorities under Council's focus area of governance.

- To meet HRM Regional Council's objective to create a Council and committee governance structure that is efficient, effective, scaled appropriately, and where decisions are made at the appropriate level

Historically..

- In 1994 the City of Halifax recommended moving to a Standing Committee structure – no political consensus was achieved
- In April 1996 the new HRM Council met in COW to discuss standing & advisory committees. Recommended establishing a regional wide advisory committee structure with COW and reinstate some of the existing committees (temporarily)
- In June 1997 –An Ad Hoc Committee of Council recommended moving to a new advisory model for Regional Council – Round Table Model. This model was debated but not adopted.
- At Halifax Regional Council January 17, 2006 (Item 9.2.1 (ii)) Council directed:
 - the Membership Selection Committee to review all committees of Council and make recommendations regarding whether some should be added, removed or moved as advisory committees to Council or Community Council.
 - Work commenced on the development of a Terms of Reference, research and work plan.

Today..

Committees are created by Regional Council (entities of Regional Council) for a specific purpose or mandate, are generally advisory in nature, generally no "sunset" clause unless created for a specific purpose i.e. Tax Reform, District Boundary Review etc.

In addition, HRM appoints a significant number of citizens to Boards of External bodies (17 external committees to which HRM makes appointments- not in scope)

HRM currently has:

- 37 HRM committees
- 43 additional inactive committees
- 158 citizens serve on HRM appointed committees
- Many dedicated volunteers providing excellent service to HRM
- Committees can struggle with quorum, with the terms of reference (focus) & recruitment
- Committees of Council are "a" means of Council receiving input from citizens. It is not the only means available to Council – HRM's Community Engagement Strategy.
- Council and volunteers desire that the time and effort of community volunteers be productive and meaningful.

Best practice research..

- Committee of Council reform is not an easy process for any municipality
 - Reviewed HRM's benchmark cities: (Winnipeg, Vancouver, Hamilton, Surrey, London, and Brampton. Laval is also a benchmark city, but was excluded due to time constraints. Regina was added as they had conducted a similar review in 2008)
 - Findings:
 - Committee reform is often politically difficult but possible
 - Municipalities are striving for the balance of broad input and effective use of Council and residents time & energy
 - A number of cities have moved to "Standing Committees" of Council – with Advisory Committees reporting through the Standing Committees (Winnipeg, Hamilton, Regina)
 - Other municipalities still have a number of Advisory Committees reporting directly to Council (London, Brampton)
 - In Vancouver the terms and mandate of all committees are set by the incoming Council

July 6th...

- Based on that research and consultation staff presented a number of options to HRM's Membership Selection Committee

Options Considered by Membership Selection Committee of Council..

- Consolidation of a number of committees (smallest change)
- Move to Main Committees – comprised of both citizens and Council (similar to the previous round table approach)
- Move to “Standing Committees of Council” with associated advisory committees
 - Adopting a standardizing definitions and support levels for committees (Standing/Advisory & Ad Hoc)
 - Under this structure Councillors usually serve as liaison – not voting members of associated advisory committees

July 6, 2009 direction to staff....

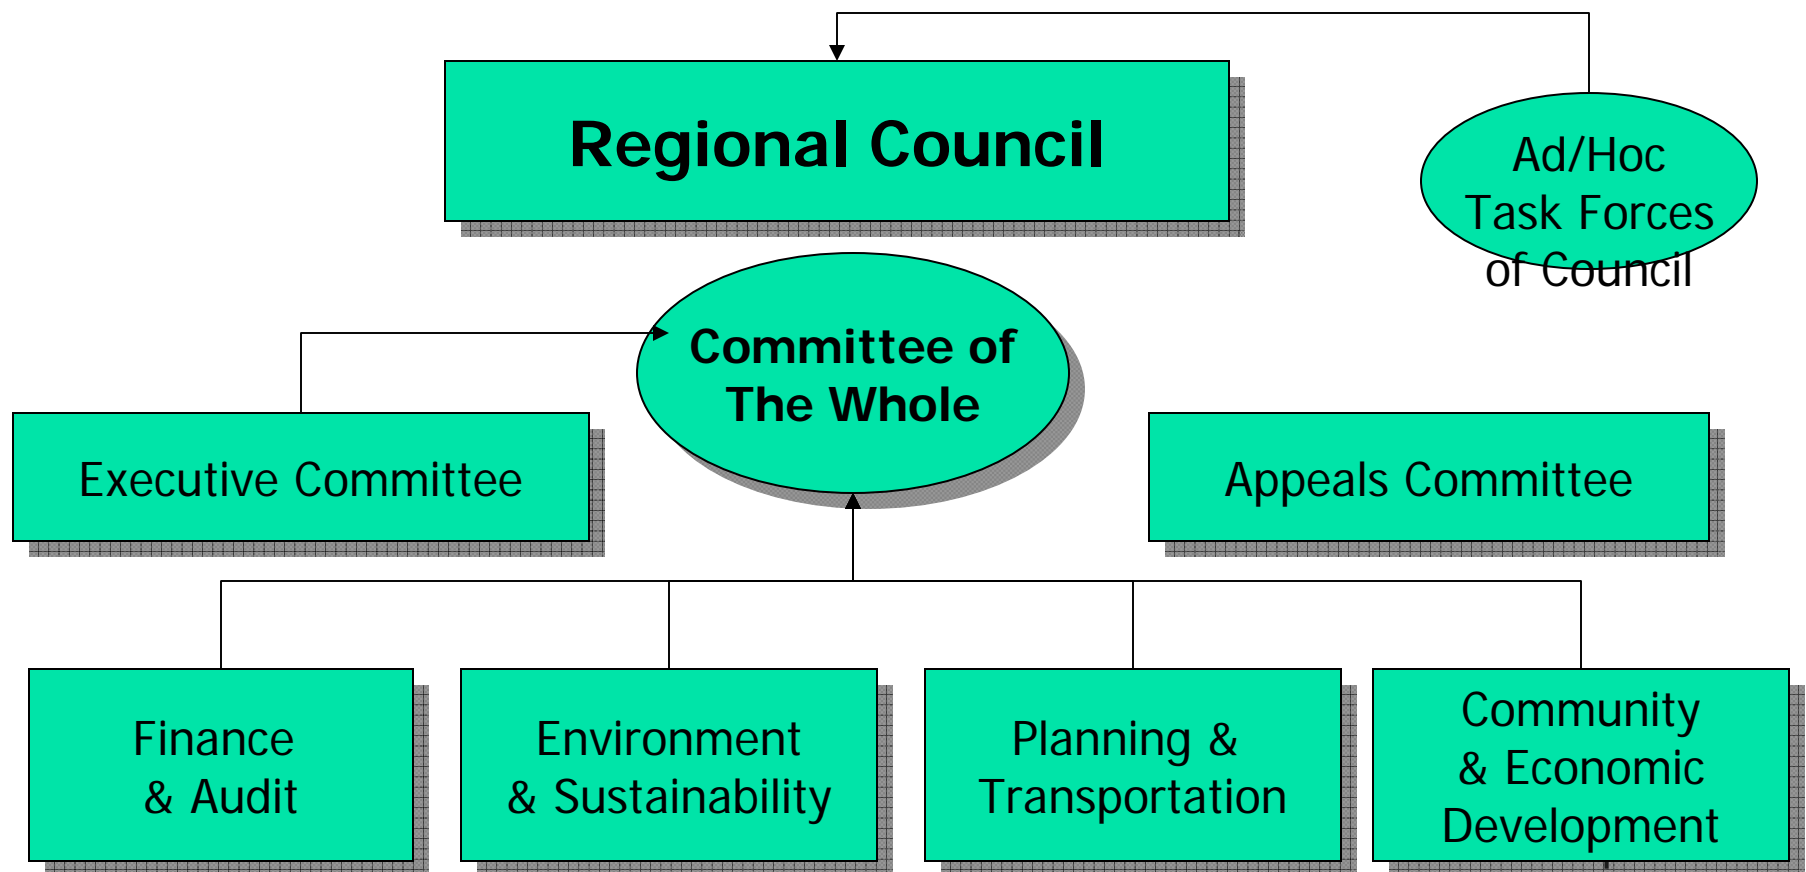

- The Membership Selection Committee of Council generally accepted the concept of Standing Committees of Council – under six (6) headings
Referred back to staff for August 4, 2009, the following:
 - Provide any costs associated with changes
 - Provide a recommendation on how Councillors are appointed to Standing Committees and would membership be on a rotational basis
 - Comment on how Councillors not on a committee could provide input
 - In the Terms of Reference each Standing Committee would be mandated to provide a quarterly update to Council through Committee of the Whole
 - Terms of Reference to provide for public presentations to standing committees – to accommodate broader public input
 - Determine the reporting structure of citizen advisory committees (to Council or through Standing Committees)
 - Provide specific recommendations on where current committees would fit under the new structure

Overview of the Standing Committee approach to follow..

- To move to Standing Committees of Council (Councillors only)
 - Executive, Expanded Appeals, Finance & Audit, Environment & Sustainability, Transportation & Planning, Economic & Community Development
- Councillors to sit on up to two (2) Standing Committees as voting members – appointed through Membership Selection- and could attend meetings of any Committee of Council (as currently provided for in Administrative Order #1)
- Mayor chairs Executive and is ex officio on all other (Admin Order #1)
- Standing Committees would report to Regional Council through Committee of the Whole
- Regional Council may grant decision making authority at its discretion within the limits of HRM Charter (important point)
- Citizen participation would occur through associated advisory committees to Standing Committees and the use of presentation/public input. This approach could serve to increase and broaden public participation to significant Regional issues
- Several committees (geographically specific) would become advisory committees to Community Council
